

Williams Family Reunion.

The fifth annual reunion of the Williams family will be observed Saturday, Aug. 26, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hopkins of Lyndon. A basket picnic will be one of the features of the gathering. Invitations have been sent to the different members of the Williams family so far as known, and the committee of arrangements urge that each one make a special effort to be present. These occasions have been highly successful in the past and a glorious time is anticipated at the coming gathering. Any communication may be addressed to E. B. Hopkins, E. H. Gray or R. L. Wilmarth of Lyndon.

None Too Tainted For Him.

"Would you refuse a tip from me if you knew it was tainted money?" asked the customer in the restaurant as he finished his meal.

"No, sir," replied the waiter; "I'd not refuse it sir, even if you had run it through that piece of Camembert cheese, sir!"—Yonkers Statesman.

A Touching Story

is the saving from death of the baby girl of Geo. A. Eyler, Cumberland, Md. He writes: "At the age of 11 months, our little girl was in declining health, with serious throat trouble, and two physicians gave her up. We were almost in despair when we resolved to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. The first bottle gave relief; after taking four bottles she was cured and is now in perfect health." Never fails to relieve and cure a cough or cold. At the Red Cross Pharmacy and Parlor Drug Store. Prices 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

ARRESTED FOR SPEEDING.

Mayor Dunne Confessed He Didn't Know Speed Limit.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—Mayor Edward F. Dunne of Chicago was arrested yesterday afternoon in the suburbs of Evanston for violation of the ordinance regulating the speed of automobiles.

The mayor in company with John Boylston was riding through Evanston when he was stopped by a policeman who accused the chauffeur, Edward Sykes, of going too fast. All three occupants of the automobile were taken to the Evanston police station. The mayor remained outside the station in the automobile, while the other two went in to appear before the justice.

"I don't know anything about the speed of these things," said the mayor. "But I don't think we were going fast. However, we may have been, and I guess we will have to pay our fine like anybody else."

Sykes was unable to decide whether he should pay the fine of $10, which was placed against him by the justice, and came out to consult the mayor about it. "Go ahead and pay the fine," advised the mayor.

It was paid and the machine moved away after Mayor Dunne had solicitously inquired concerning the speed limit in his own city, saying he did not desire to be arrested again.

LOUISIANA.

Destined to Become One of the Greatest States.

The state of Louisiana covers 26,000,000 acres, and of this area about 19,000,000 acres are virtually vacant. Yet the portion of the commonwealth which is in cultivation holds the record in the United States for abundance of production per acre. The state's population is at the low figure of thirty inhabitants to the square mile. This simple statement, without embellishment, would suffice to indicate Louisiana's prospects under the present impetus of foreign and American immigration.

Louisiana has a railroad in nearly every parish, and transportation by water in every parish except four. The Mississippi River forms the eastern state boundary as far south as Angola, and thence it courses through the state to the extreme southern limit at the Gulf of Mexico. Besides affording all the facilities of water traffic, the river furnishes conveniences for irrigation in growing rice. The southern part of the state faces the gulf. Louisiana has 1,250 miles of coast line.

Satisfactory labor is hard to obtain, and negro labor creates innumerable embarrassments, but the annual production of cotton exceeds 800,000 bales, and there are some ten cotton mills and some fifty-five cotton-seed oil mills. Were labor conditions favorable, it is estimated that the cotton trade would be at least twice as great. Cotton is grown extensively in practically all sections, except the southern.

Sugar cane is raised in the central southern and southeastern parts of the state. The sugar houses about 450, consume about 2,000 tons of cane daily. More than fifty mills use the whole rice yield. Rice production could be doubled with little effort. The capacity in this direction exceeds 1,500,000 acres.

The lumber business of Louisiana has but just begun to develop. The forest area comprises about 17,000,000 acres. Pines predominate, but there are oaks, hickories, ash, beech, magnolia, poplar, cypress, willow, gums and other woods. The opportunities for utilizing the forest resources are such as to admit of the establishment of various woodworking industries in the tree regions.

Louisiana oranges, grapefruit, figs, plums, pears and fruits of all kinds are celebrated. The growing of oranges and strawberries is steadily increasing the revenue to the state. Tobacco is grown in the northwestern section. Truck gardening is augmenting marvelously in the central eastern and central western sections, and cattle raising keeps proportionate pace with agricultural interest and effort.

The largest sulphur mine and the largest salt deposit in the United States are in Louisiana. Oil wells exist in the extreme southwestern corner, near the Texas boundary. Marble beds, lignitic coal veins and iron ore constitute other special resources. The chances for oil-stor growing are illustrated by the fact that there are above 7,000 square miles of oyster grounds capable of service.

The prosperity, development and prospects of Louisiana are well conveyed by the importance of its metropolis, New Orleans. Additional steamship lines to European ports, especially in the southern countries, tend to show that New Orleans has an exceptionally bright future. New Orleans already ranks next to New York as an export city. With the new steamship lines and with the opening of the Panama Canal, it is sure to become aggressive for the first time. New Orleans is now the largest grain, the largest cotton, the largest sugar, the largest rice and the largest lumber port of the United States, as well as the largest foreign fruit market.

Bearing in mind that Louisiana is only about one-third developed, and that even against oppressive restraints its prosperity is remarkable, there is a basis for estimating, although incompletely, the opportunities which are offering and will be offered through long desired facilities. The state's commercial prospects are illimitable. Louisiana is one of the Southern states whose advancement to a high position among the world's trade centers is inevitable. It has the resources and the brains, and it requires only more and better labor.—St. Louis Republic.

DOING THEIR DUTY.

Scores Of Barre Readers Are Learning The Duty Of The Kidneys.

To filter the blood is the kidneys' duty. When they fail to do this the kidneys are sick.

Backache and many kidney ills follow. Urinary trouble, diabetes.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure them all. Barre people endorse our claim.

Veteran Geo. W. Hunt (retired), Miles Block, says: "When I went to E. A. Drown's drug store in the winter of 1897, for Doan's Kidney Pills I had been subjected to attacks of dragging, heavy pains in the small of my back, extending downwards. They were particularly in evidence after a hard day's work or if I exerted myself in any way. Many a night Mrs. Hunt has rubbed my back with liniments and applied hot water for the slight ease those makeshifts afforded. I was so pleased at the respite I received from the almost constant pain that when Doan's Kidney Pills stopped it I endorsed them publicly. I have had no reason to alter my opinion in the interim. I can add to my own experience that of others who have used Doan's Kidney Pills and are just as enthusiastic about the benefit received as I."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute.

Best Place of All.

When tired, go home. When you want fun, go home. When you want to show others that you have reformed, go home and let the family get acquainted with the fact. When you want to show yourself at the very best, go home and do the act there. When you feel like being extra liberal, go home and practice on your wife and children first. When you want to shine with more brilliancy than usual, go home and light the whole household. Home is the best place of all.—St. Paul Journal.
